

St. Mary School
Summer Reading
Grade 1

Dear Parents/Guardians:

Summer is finally here! To reinforce the many reading skills that your child has acquired during the school year, we have developed a summer reading requirement.

We hope your child will read as many books as he/she can during the summer vacation. A Reading Record is attached – please fill in for every book read. Your child may read books to himself/herself, listen to stories read to him/her by an adult or participate in the many reading programs available online. The reading record which documents that your child completed the summer reading requirement is due during the first week of school. Although we have compiled a reading list of suggested books of varied levels, your child is free to read any book that he/she would like. Most of the books are available in public libraries.

A Dolch Word List is also attached. (From 50 to 75 percent of all words used in school books, library books, newspapers and magazines are in the Dolch Basic Sight Vocabulary of 220 words. They are “service words” (pronouns, adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, conjunctions, and verbs) which cannot be learned through the use of pictures. Because they are used to hold thoughts together, these words must be recognized at a glance before a child can read with confidence. Please make flashcards and have your child practice the words. ***

Required:

1. Choose several books to read.
2. Complete the Reading Record for each book.

Enjoy the summer!
